CANDID READER,

A Book without a PREFACE or a DEDICATION, looks as odd as a fine House without an Avenue; I have therefore comply'd with Custom as to the Former, but have declined the Latter, because your DEDICATIONS are generally stuffed with more Flattery than I am Master of; and requires more Skill to paint a Patron to the Life than I pretend to. This made an ingenious Author say of DEDICATIONS: DEDICATIONS says he, are a Sort of intellectual Taylors, who make Cloaths for great Men's Minds, without taking their Measure. But, to the Point.

I here present you with 30 Years Travel and Study. In Compiling of this, I have turned over many Pages in all the Universities of Great Britain and Ireland; and through my whole Tour, have read Men as well as Books. My being a Foreigner, and a Native of Riga in Livonia, will I hope nothing injure the Merit of the Performance, but rather plead in my Defence as being disinterested. Through the whole Work, I have carry'd with me the best Flowers of Antiquity, and borrow'd from Authors of the first Credit: And I hope that no judicious Reader, will think it an Affront to his Knowledge to conn over this Essay; which will take up no more Room in one's Pocket, than an Octavo Play, and will refresh the Memory more in Half an Hour, than poring over Volumes a whole Day. This will be an useful Companion to all Ranks of People, from the blue Garter, down to the Peasant. It will save the Learned the Trouble of going to their Studies, by solving many Doubts which may hang upon the Memory; and to Men of low Parts, it is a Library in itself. Here at one View, one may look into the Cabinet of Antiquity, and there see the Time and Actions of the first Heroes; and mentally converse with Kings, Heroes, Philosophers, &c.
a take

To young Men in Colleges, and Grammar Schools, this is Multum in Parvo; an Introduction to such as read the Greek and Latin Authors; and a Remembrancer to those who have read and forgot: and is a Key to the whole Body of History; and particularly, that of Great Britain and Ireland. In this I have taken some Pains to detect the interested Wranglings, and groundless Jars of particular Annalists and Historians, who very often mangle Truth, and muzzle Probability. The Fair Sex, who seldom frequent public Libraries, or spend much Time in Bookseller's Shops in search of Antiquity, have the Work done here to their Hands, in a Pocket Book, which does not take up double the Room of an overgrown Snuff-Box, or an itinerant Looking Glass. And over the Tea table they can find in this Viaticum, Invektive, Satire, Lampoon, or plain Dealing, according to what Character they are disposed to set up. Lucretia, Virtue, Artimesia a loving Wife, and Cleopatra a kind Mistress. By help of this Pocket Library, you may decide Wagers about Time and Place, from the Days of King Lud, down to the Battle of Preston, without consulting a Lawyer, or disturbing the Parson

Parson of the Parish to end the Dispute; and the meanest Capacity can find any thing out, being Alphabetically placed, as ready as a Word in the Dictionary, or the Moon's Age in an Almanack.

What now remains, is to shew how far the Hebrew, Greek, and Latin Authors differ about the Year of the World our Saviour was born in, for upon that Disagreement is founded all the Contradictions we meet with in Chronology and History. Among the Hebrews, Paul Sedochlin fixes the Incarnation, Anno Mundi 3518, the Talmudists say 4784, a Difference of 226 Years, the new Rabbins compute 3780, Rabbi Nasson 3784, Rabbi Moses Germedist 4580, and Josephus makes it 4192. So that among the Hebrew Chronologists, there is a Difference of 1062 Years. Among the Greeks, Metrodorus places the Incarnation, Anno Mundi 5000—Eusebius will have it 5199, and Theophilus 5476, another wide Difference of 476 Years.

Among the Latins St. Hierom has it 3241, St. Augustin 5351, a surprizing Difference of 1410 Years. Isidorus computes 5270, Orosius 5190. Alphenus computes 5984, and the venerable Bede 3984, which comes within 68 Years of my Æra 4052. In Consequence of that Calculation, this is the Year of the World 5790. and by that I stand, and have directed my self through all this useful and pleasant Epitome of Chronology and History.

Breako ;

Breako Simon: The Irish and Scots Historians are sadly at a Loss, where to fix the Æra of this Man's Existence, yet both make a handle of him in their Turns. Say the Irish Annals, Simon Breako was one of the three Nemedian Captains, who left Ireland on account of the hard Treatment they endured under the Pirates. These pyratrical Governors, having slain Nemedius the Chief of the Clan and his whole Army of 200 Men, by the Assistance, or as some assert (Keating) under the Conduct of Morchin M'kdela, and Conaing M'kfober, these Pantholonians and Associates imposed a Tax on the surviving Nemedians, as follows; six Children out of nine; and the same in Proportion out of all their Household Goods: Moreover, every Family was mulct 3 Measures of Cream; 3 Measures of Wheat, and as much Butter. Nemedius, before-mentioned, came into Ireland 12 Years after the Pantholonian Plague of which 9000 died; which by Computation of those Times was before the Birth of Christ, 2049. Breako having quitted Ireland for the promised Reasons, he and his adherents settled in Greece some where near Athens;

thens ; they increased their Numbers, and became good Proficients in Philosophy, and the Divinity of the Times. Simon dies, and soon after his Descendments returned to Ireland by the way of Denmark and Scotland, where they rested themselves 7 Years ; about 217 Years after the first coming of Nemedius into that Country, (Ireland) and before the Birth of Christ, 1820

Delee, the Leader and Descendant of Breako, who brought back his Tribe under the Name of Bolgonians into Ireland, had 5 Sons, viz. Slangus, Ruthburgus, Gandin, Gawin and Seangan, who divided the Country into five Parts. What the Scots say of this Breako falls in when I speak of Occurrences in that Country.

Edward III. King of England, hang'd his Chief Justice Thorp, for taking a Bribe of 100 Libs, that Prince said, that Thorp had violated the Oath, which the King took at his Coronation.

Edmond Ironside, 15th Monarch according to Speed, from Egbert, disputed along Time with Canute the Dane; at last it was refer'd to a single Combat in the Isle of Alsfy near Gloucester. In which the Dane being worsted, he yields to accept of Part of England. Edmond survived this Treaty. The Combat is nothing but a Dream. In a short while, by Assassins suborn'd by Canute, he was murder'd at Bury in Suffolk, afterward call'd St. Edmond's Bury.

 Vulgar, was the 5th Descent from Nuogbad-Neagh, Provincial King of Lenster in Ireland. He marry'd two Daughters of Monarch Cormack M'kart, and being advanced to the Head Command of the Army, behaved himself like a wise General, and a brave Soldier.
Boetius and some other Authors, vainly imagin'd him to have been a Gyant, and that he was able to fight 50 Men Hand to Fift, but that is a silly Dream;
 as

as a prudent Officer at the Head of a Party he fought Hundreds ; but not in his single Capacity.

Fiol, Chief Judge under Cormack M'kart, Monarch of Ireland, left four Things in Charge with his Son: First, Never to nurse a King's Child: Secondly, Not to trust a Secret with his Wife: Thirdly, Never to make his Sister his Purse-bearer: And the fourth Thing was, Never to make a Clown too familiar. The young Gentleman, willing to put his Father's Legacy to the Test, immediately undertakes the bringing up of one of the King's Children: Makes a rude impolished Fellow Chamberlain of his Household: Lodges a Sum of Money in his Sister's Hand: And having placed the King's Child in safe Hands, he goes to the Wife, under a pretended Fright, and calling her aside, tells her in a broken Accent, and well-feign'd Concern, That the Child was unhappily killed; and begg'd her Secrecy and Advice how to escape with his Life. The good Woman, who by that Time had made Choice of the made Favourite, lay'd hold of the Opportunity to get rid of a detested Husband; and in a dissembled Grief cries out, Murder, Murder!

Murder! The House is alarm'd; the Servants come round; to whom, she, true Woman, declares all, crying out, they were all undone. In the Interim the Officers of the Peace hearing the Word, Murder, the Gentleman Foster-Father is clapt into Custody. Mean Time he sends a doleful Epistle to his Bankrupt Sister: She denies knowing any thing of Money, and tells him, He was mad for murdering the Child; that he ought to think of the Kings just Resentment, and its Consequences, and not dream of Money. The Tryal comes on; the Wife and her Gallant prosecute: But the Child being produced alive in Court, the King highly praised his Wildom; and desired him never to trust his Wife nor Sister again.

Gathelus, arrived in Spain with his Gathelians, when they were banished out of Egypt. But Authors of more Credit say, that one Bracha M'kdonagha, the Descent from Srue, the Chief of the Gathelians on their Exilement brought them from Egypt to Scythia in five Laden Ships, and lastly from Gotia into Spain, Boetius, and the new Authors, grant that Gathelus was Captain of the Exil'd Scythians out of Egypt, but do not close in with Cambreus, who makes him Cotemporary with Gorgontius 900 Years after he was dead.

1252

For, according to Polycronicon, Gorguntius reign'd a King in Britain, 352

Before that, the Milesians landed in Ireland 900 Years. Now that fabulous Author Cambreus, without any more Authority thority than his own Invention, says, Gorguntius King in Britain aided the Milesians with Men and Money to in-invade Ireland, on Condition that they should become Homagers to him :

 That is to say, he assisted a People 900 Years before he was born. Again, according to the Authentic Records, Cashil and Tarach, the Milesians landed in Ireland, Anno Mundi, 2752

Gorguntius reign'd in Britain, 3652

Ergo, he reign'd 900 before he was born.

Again, according to Keating, Syratian and others, Srue led the Gathelians out of Egypt towards Scythia, but putting into Crete, he died. His Son Heber pursued the Voyage, and landing in Scythia, demands the Crown of his Ancestor Femus Farfig, who was Father of Nulus, of Refleor, the then King of Scythia; which Refleor refusing, a War commenced, which con-

out. One of them insisting on it, that such Barbarity was repugnant to the Law of Jesus, as well as to the Law of Moses, the Tyrant commanded one of his great Teeth to be plucked out for seven Days running. The poor Wretch then gave the hungry Tyrant 1000 Marks. That King at that Time plundered the Jews of 66000 Marks in Silver, yet thirsted as greedily after the political Blood of his unhappy People, as before.

Jews constrained by Henry III. in the 26th Year of his Reign, to pay him 20000 Marks, at two Terms in the Year, or live and die in Prison: 35th of his Reign, he extorted vast Sums of all rich Men; and from Aaron a Jew at York, he exacted 14000 Marks for himself, and 10000 for his Consort. In all, he took from one Man 30000 Marks in Silver, and 200 Marks in Gold. N. B. Kenneth II. first Monarch of Scotland, revenged the Death of his Farther King Alpin, (whom the Picts dishonourably killed) by putting an End to the Pictish Race. He was crown'd near the Field of Battle in the Marble Chair, or Saxun Læthale brought by his Order from Argyleshire, which Simeon Breako fetched from Ireland, according to the Scots Authors. But the Irish Historians trace it from another Fountain. Keating, Gratianus, &c. That King gave two Spots of the Country to his Head Generals; to Mernia, Merus, to Angus. — Buchanan says, that Simeon Breako brought the Marble Chair into Ireland from Spain; and that Fergus the first brought it from Ireland 330 Years before the Incarnation; 1154 before Keneth II; 2006 Years since.

Kenneth III. Monarch of Scotland, a wise and warlike Prince purged the Coast from Obscenity, by discarding all Persons of immoral Lives, made fundry Tours over the Kingdom, to discountenance Vice and encourage Virtue. In his Reign, the Pest of Europe, the Danes, landing at Montrose, put all to Fire and Sword, either Young or Old, ravaged as far as Perth, where the King stopt their Carreer by giving them Battle. After a long and bloody Conflict, Fortune seem'd to smile on the Danes, and the Event had proved fatal to the Scotish Nation, had not a providential Turn declared in its Favour. The Story runs thus: A Country Farmer and his two Sons being at Plough near the Field of Battle, it madded the old Man to see his Countrymen upon the Run, and being a robust old Fellow, never effeminated with Turky Gruel nor Indian Slap, he snatched a Yoke from an Ox's Neck, bidding his Sons do the like. Thus accoutred, placing themselves in a narrow Pass, where not above 5 or 6 could go a Breast, the Farmer address'd the Fugitives thus. Turn back, or die: Ye Disgrace to Honour and Arms!—Be chased by a handful of half-starved Pyrates, nay Danes too, the Skim of Mankind, and the Scoff of Nations! Hunger, not Prowess sends them a pilfering abroad. Return, Return my Countrymen, and let your Sword anticipate that Death which Rags and Poverty must unavoidably give them.—

The

The poor Soldiers, spent with Loss of Blood and the Fatigue of Flight, was in no Cue to take Death out of Nature's Hand ; nor indeed had they any great Stomach to lose Time, to listen to his Harangue: But the rustic Orator was as liberal of his Hands as of his Tongue, and the Sons follow'd the Example of the Father, with substantial Knocks, on those who would not wheel about. Mean Time, the old Farmer crys out ; Fresh Succours, new Supplies! new Supplies! nor Dane; nor Danish Brood shall see another Morn. The Pursuers hearing the unwelcome Sounds of new Supplies, took it for a Reinforcement, and making a Halt, the running Scots believe it too, and stood. The Danes confounded at this sudden Turn, gave back, with a hasty Gallop. The Scots encouraged by the brave old Man, wheel round to gallop after. In fine, redoubling Strength by new born Courage; the Dane exchanged his fleeting Conquest for a Grave, to feed the hungry Worms, scarce one escaping the revengful Sword to carry News to Denmark. The General Hay, for that is the Name, when brought before the King, retained the Patriot still. Being ask'd what Recompence he'd have, he said, I ow'd this Service to my Country and my King, I want not payment; Liberty's my Aim, and of all noble Minds. The King commanded him to be led into Pertb in Triumph, invested him with large Possessions and Honours, which that noble Name enjoys down to our Days. After that, the King fell off from his wonted Integrity, contrived Malcomb's Death, who by the Law of Fergus the first, was the next of the Blood Royal fit to reign.

 Then he tamper'd with the States at Scoon, and had it enacted, partly thro' Fear in some, and Bribery in others, that his own Son Malcomb, tho' not of Years, should be declar'd Prefect of Cumberland, and Prince of Scotland.
 That, and some other high Strains of King-Craft, cooled the Affection of his Friends toward him, and gave his latent Enemies Pretence of open Rupture. However, returning from the Palladian Shrine, where rotten Con-sciences used to visit, he was killed by a Machine contrived by Lady Fellena.
 Thus says Boetius and John Major.--- Tho' Buchannan, who is not always an Oracle, seems in Conjunction with

Vinton

Vinton to be nearer the Mark in this Point, viz. The King was killed by an Ambuscade of Regicides suborn'd by Lady Fenella : And they give for Reason, to oppugn the former Authors, 1st. The Vulgar has it, that being a very wise and projecting Prince, he sent one of his Domesticks to consult a Fortune-teller, concerning the Wars Success, Reign and Length of Days, &c. The old Dame of Endor very friendly tells the Messenger, after giving her Head 5 Astrological Wags, that the King should be killed by one near him. By whom? cries the Messenger; by thee, reply'd the Dame. The Mercury takes the Hint, rewards the Oracle liberally, goes home, tells his Master a Canterbury Tale, but not the true Tale, and the same Night murther'd him.

Rome taken by the Gauls, under the Conduct of Bren, Brother to Belin King in Britain. The Gauls having agreed with the Senate to quit the Town upon Payment of a Sum of Money, when the Mulct stipulated was upon Weigh, the Soldiery threw in their Arms into the Scale: the Commissaries resenting that Imposition, a new Rupture follow'd; and many killed on both Sides. But the injured Camillus, hearing at some Distance the unhappy Fate of his Country, he drowns in Oblivion the Wrong done to him, and with uncommon Expedition marched to Rome; where this noble Dictator gave the needy Gauls such an Onset, that according to Livy, they left the Town and all the Money behind them, and run to Gabina, where they were cut off to a Man. But Polybius, willing to shew a little Pity, says, that they quitted the City, and all Italy, pursuant to Articles made and exchanged. Note, There was a Frenchman named Bren, who commanded a Descent upon Greece, but our Hero, who took Rome, was a Britain, before Christ, 387 River New, brought first to London, by Sir Hugh Middleton, 1614

Rufus William, usurping King of England. — For, admitting that his reputed Father had a Right, by Sword, or Donation of the People, William could have none before his Brother Robert, if Proximity in Blood gives any Title. But the good Father Landfranc, who was then hard at Work upon his School Divinity, had not Leisure to put in one good Word for Prince Robert, but instead of that, leaving him to the Clemency of the Normans, dubs William a King

King almost against the Bent of the whole Nation. Odo Bishop of Ba-jon, Uncle to both, spirited up the People to call in the injured Prince, but the Attempt failed; the Usurper had Luck on his Side, which makes good the political Maxim, Usurpers are like Crab-lice, they stick so close wherever they get Footing, there is no unharbouring of them without wounding the Soil they harbour in. For William took the Bishop Prisoner at Penswic, and sent him, and the Bishop of Ducham a pilgrimaging for their kind Love to his Brother Robert; and he held it no Sacrilege to keep both Sees in his own Hand, as a Preliminary to Modern Commendams. After that he became so uppish, that in Resistance to French Politeness, he prided himself in playing the Clown to his Equals; and the Tyrant to his Subjects. Malcolm, the 3^d King of Scotland, a Gentleman of princely Endowments, made a Journey from his own Country as far as Glocester, to visit this Scandal to all Monarchs, William resolved to maintain his swinish Habit, gave a Grunt to the Messenger, who notified Malcolm's Arrival, and as the Phrase runs, went to his Stey without giving the Other a Meeting.

 After walling the Tower of London,

Surnames, first came up in Greece, from great Acts, &c. as Soter from Saviour; from Marks on the Body, as Physicon, or Gryphos, gorebelly'd or hooknose; from some Virtue, as Enegetes, Benefactor; Philadelphos, Lover of his Brethren; or from Success, as Eudemon, fortunate; from Liberality, as Docon, giver: one of the Ptolomys was called Lamyros, as much as to say, conceited.

Srue, and not Gathelus, as Buchannan would have it, led the Gathelians out of Egypt 797 Years after the Flood ; for Gathelus was long before dead : and here a great Author makes a very great Blunder for fancying, that Portugal takes its Name from Gathelus, or Gatheli Portus : By that, Gathelus must have been a Conjuror, for coming alive after he was dead, and speaking Latin many Years before it was in Being ; Walsingham too, in Imitation of his wandering Brethren, brings his Hero Gathelus from the Grave to head a Party of Men : In Fact, that the Descendants of Gathelus came into Spain, we have Evilsham and the Irish Records, Vouchers ; for, say they, Bracha M'kdonagha, the 15th King of Scythia, in a direct Line from Srue, who died in the Isle of Candy, in his Voyage home from Egypt, led the Gathelian Off-spring into Spain. Gratianus.

His two Sons, Androgeos and Theomantus being Minors, his Brother Cassibeline took on him the Government; and in the eighth Year of his Reign, Julius Cæsar invaded Britain, so says Geofry of Monmouth. But Simeon of Durham, who exerts himself to put a Falsity upon the British Records, tells us, that Helena, Mother of Constantine the Great, walled the City of London, and not King Lud, Anno Dom. 306.

He moreover robs the Britons of all Arts and Knowledge in building; until one Bennet, Abbot of Worrel, and Tutor to the Venerable Bede, brought over Architects from abroad, to build the Britains Houses. Now Polybius informs us, that Julius Agricola taught the Britains the liberal Arts, &c. Its much then they had not a House to live in, or that that polite Roman never once put them in the Way of Building:

Typhon, that Gyant, and Egeon, vulgarly called Briarius, were both overthrown by Jupiter, who in Revenge of their impious Rebellion, flung the former under Sicily, and the latter under Mount Ætna.

But see the Uncertainty of all sublunary Triumphs; for this brave Assertor of his Country's Right, growing into a popular Esteem, soon became the Envy of the Grandees; after having quartered his Troops all the Winter in England, he returned home, where meeting with a stiff-necked and unthinking Party, irritated, as Buchanan has it by the Cummins, and other Pretenders to the Brussian Faction, rather than shed more Blood, he dismissed his Army, in Hopes that his Sovereign, King Robert, would come to relieve the Country.
